ABOUT THE COMPANY

Dennis Bozeman and Dedarryl Washington each got into glazing for the opportunities the trade presented. Bozeman became a glazier after working in plumbing and masonry. Washington joined the union shortly after high school. They each gained 15+ years of experience on projects as significant as the dual-branded W and Element Hotel tower in Center City.

When the two met at work several years ago, they struck up a fast friendship. As they undertook an early morning task of ripping out glazing to be replaced, the two talked about how one day their strong work ethic might support a company of their own. "We started brainstorming and stayed in touch,"

Bozeman explained. "It took some time to figure out plans. It's a slow process to form a business." When he was laid off for a few months, he used the time to complete all of the paperwork.

D&D Family Construction, LLC was officially founded in Philadelphia on April 17, 2019 – the day after Bozeman's 50th birthday. Bozeman and Washington are co-owners who pride themselves on the family-owned status and the company's two diversity credentials as a Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (DBE) and Minority Business Enterprise (MBE). D&D has HUD Section 3 certification and is registered with SEPTA and the City of Philadelphia for its Rebuild program to revitalize libraries, parks, and recreation centers.

GLAZING SCOPE

A DBE/MBE certified and bonded glazing contractor, D&D serves GCs, building owners, and architects in the Philadelphia five-county area. Bozeman and Washington lead operations and perform work. "When you hire us, you'll get us," said Bozeman. "We're LU252 members as well as owners. We're on the jobs working side by side." Projects benefit from his and Washington's experience and multitude of safety certifications. Washington holds the Architectural Glass & Metal Technician (AGMT) credential, a rigorous third-party assessment of his glazing knowledge and performance earned through hands-on and written testing. Bozeman passed the hands-on exam before Covid-19 put his testing on hold; he will take the written test later this year.

NOTABLE PROJECTS

As a new company, D&D performs projects as a standalone glazing contractor and as a subcontractor to other AGI members. D&D recently subcontracted glazing for the Hilton Garden Inn in Camden, New Jersey, the city's first new hotel in 50 years. D&D's scope of work included all of the punched window and door openings, interior decorative glass and mirrors, and exterior plexiglass panels to shield the outdoor areas from Delaware River breezes. Additional recent D&D projects have included replacing doors and windows at Potter-Thomas School and the University of Pennsylvania.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

D&D maintains a commitment to community service and giving back to businesses in need. The company supports the Architectural Glass & Metal Association's Small Business Community Relief Fund. The fund was established to help small business owners who have suffered glass damage as a result of Covid-19 or civil unrest. D&D recently provided skilled glazing work to repair retail storefronts for Uncle Bobbie's Coffee & Books in Germantown and two pizza shops in West Philadelphia.
